COMPONENT COLLECTION

The collection is mainly inspired by architecture but also by nature. I love sourcing unusual stones and I like to set them in unique ways creating a shape around them. I often design special catches which allow the whole piece to flow and be worn in numerous ways and lengths.

GEOMETRIC WIRE COLLECTION

This is a more simple version of the Component Collection, again inspired by architecture and nature. The stones used have natural inclusions which vary in colour making each piece unique. Moreover, each piece is shaped on the stone itself, so no two pieces can be the same.

CORAL COLLECTION

The Coral collection is inspired by the Scottish landscape and Largs, where I used to comb the beaches for unusual shaped stones, pebbles and sea glass. The bright red colour of this coral is perfect to make a statement.

ROLLERED COLLECTION

The name of this collection comes from its production method. The pieces have rolled hand made paper detail on the surface to create an unusual texture which is inspired by the Scottish landscape, nature, water and wood.

FRAME AND LABYRINTH COLLECTION

The Frame and Labyrinth collection is inspired by architecture, windows in particular, but also by the Scottish landscape and has influences from Egypt and labyrinths. I draw out each shape and I don't use stencils or cast these shapes, so each one is a completely unique piece.

PERSPEX COLLECTION

The collection takes inspiration from my childhood days of combing the beaches of Largs where I picked up pieces of sea glass and rocks from the beach. Perspex is very similar to the sea glass but lighter and more durable. Some of the pieces have laser cut details inspired by rocks.

TEXTURED COLLECTION

My Textured collection is inspired by the Scottish landscape, natural rock formations, textures from the sea and trees. Each piece is individually handmade using different types of hammers to achieve the texture. Each shape is drawn out independently so each piece is completely unique.
